Alphonse Fournier of Hunter's avenue, who was operated on at the Backus hospital Tuesday afternoon for a fractured skull, still remains unconscious, and little hope of his recovery is held out by the attending physicians. The young man, who is 19 years of age and a son of Anthony Fournier of Hunter's avenue, has been employed by Nelson Theron of Franklin street as a barber. Monday evening in company with Mr. Theron and two other friends he went to Baltic with a horse and carriage. On the return trip the horse stumbled going down the hill in Occum near the boarding house and the occupants of the carriage were thrown out, the carriage turning over on its side. Mr. Fournier struck the top of his head on a pole by the roadside and was rendered unconscious by the blow. Mr. Theron also suffered several minor bruises. As soon as possible the unconscious man was taken to his home in the carriage and early Tuesday forenoon was removed to the Backus hospital, where an examination showed that he had a badly fractured skull, the top having been pushed inward when he struck the pole.

SANE, LEVEL HEADED CITIZEN

Magazine Writup so Describes Frank B. Brandegee, a Charter

Oak Senator—Has Broad View on Public Questions—Has Confidence of Colleagues of Both Parties.

In the September issue of the National Magazine, Joe Mitchell Chapple writing on "A Charter Oak Senator," has the following to say of Senator Frank B. Brandegee, whom he terms a sane, level-headed citizen:

In a record of the Connecticut meeting people in all parts of the state it seemed that everyone joined in an expression of appreciation for Senator Brandegee. A view of the history of Connecticut one would expect a sane, level-headed, orderly and prosperous people to send to the United States senate. By birth, instinct, education and environment, he is a sane, level-headed citizen. He believes in progress, but he does not think that mere motion is necessarily progress. He thinks that motion in the right direction is progress. He does not advocate changes simply for the sake of change. In his opinion one ought to look before leaping. He does not believe in keeping on the move for the sake of mere motion. He has always gone straight ahead himself, and has always moved upward. He graduated from Yale at the age of twenty-one; at twenty-four he was chairman of the committee on cities and boroughs in the Connecticut house of representatives; at twenty-five he was corporation counsel of his home town; at thirty-five he was speaker of the Connecticut house; at thirty-eight he was a representative in congress, and at forty he was a United States senator. He served out the unexpired term of four years of the late Senator Orville Platt, and in January, 1909, he was reelected for a full term of six years. His term of service will expire March 3, 1915. As a member of the house of representatives during the 53th and 54th congresses, he served on the following committees: Naval affairs and expenditures in the department of agriculture. Since he has been in the senate he has served on the committees on education and labor, the Philippines, as chairman of the committee on inter-oceanic canals, and Pacific railroads. He is now chairman of the committee on Pacific railroads, the ranking republican member of the committee on inter-oceanic canals, and a member of the important sub-committee on the judiciary, on interstate commerce, the ranking republican member of the committee on patents, in which subject Connecticut is so greatly interested. He is a man of a positive genius and his large manufacturing interests and the committee on the University of the United States. As chairman of the committee on forest reservations and the protection of game he put through the senate the White Mountain and Appalachian forest reserve bill. He was chairman of the select committee on the senate which investigated the so-called Third Degree abuses. He is a member of the special senate committee to investigate the alleged foreign combination against our tobacco. In the 54th congress he was a member of the republican steering committee, which decides the order of business, and in this congress he is a member of the republican committee on committee membership of the committees of the senate. He is one of the inner circle and is consulted by the leaders as one of the senators whose judgment is sound and whose vision is clear.

Broad View of Public Questions.
Senator Brandegee takes a broad national view of public questions. He is a man of a positive genius and his large manufacturing interests and the committee on the University of the United States. He was chairman of the select committee on the senate which investigated the so-called Third Degree abuses.
